Michael Sanders | Managing Partner, The
220 Experience

Michael Sanders is the Managing Partner of The 220 Experience, a child welfare, juvenile justice, educational and behavioral health solutions based company; who provides exclusive experiential learning environments for youth, families and professional audiences through podcasts, keynote presentations, workshops, coaching and consulting services.

Michael is an optimist who believes that every teen has potential. He has been referred to as an Edutainer...successfully blending education and entertainment for maximum learning and fun. He has spent 30 years working with teens and their families and brings his enthusiasm for these groups in a humorous and exciting presentation.

As a national speaker, trainer and consultant, Michael travels extensively motivating teens, inspiring families and educating professionals to be and do their best. Michael's mission is simple, "to help every adult become a FAN of teens!"

As a former juvenile probation officer, child welfare supervisor and adolescent therapist, Michael's career has focused on teen issues. He completed formal his education in Illinois, BA from Bradley University and MSW from the University of Illinois. While Michael is considered a national expert on youth issues an participates on several panels and workgroups focusing on youth concerns, he simply considers himself a "FAN" of teenagers!
