Wetlands Park Friends and Clark County Wetlands Park are proud to present this lecture series in the Nature Center's Auditorium. Free. Walk-in.

Join us on August 7 from 6pm-8pm for a talk on "The Diversity and Function of Butterfly and Moth Color Patterns".

Speaker Dr. Richard Gawne, curator of natural history at the Nevada State Museum, will provide answers to these and other questions: How have butterflies and moths evolved throughout the ages? How have color and patterns on the wings of these insects impacted the world around them? He will tie his presentation into our local environment.
